Welcome Freshmen

FRESHMAN WEEK, CLASS OF 1970

The Class of 1970 arrived on September 18 amid much confusion, which lasted throughout a greater part of the initiation period. Through this confusion many freshman pondered the question "Is Freshman Week necessary with its humiliating experiences?" Upperclassmen can only answer that it gives the Frosh a chance to become acquainted with upperclassmen besides its being a tradition at F.S.C.

Initiation this year was a little different from past years. The main problem was the off-campus residences of the freshman girls, plus the bussing situation. Because of this the girls were infrequent visitors to both Miller and Palmer Halls. Credit is due, however, to those persons who actively participated in all phases of initiation.

This year's class did not have the dilemma of beanies. The green-and-white perfection perched on their heads was a welcome sight, which added to the spirit, as did the name signs in the usual assorted sizes.

All in all, initiation was a lot of fun, but it also started many a new friendship and showed what we can expect of the newcomers. Congratulations and a warm welcome to the Class of '70.

Kathleen O'Gara

MOTEL FROSH

Ninety freshman girls are enjoying the unique experience of dormitory living in a motel atmosphere. Both the Thunderbird Motel of Fitchburg and the Town Crier of Westminster have established temporary dorm councils and are functioning as off-campus dormitories.

The Town Crier has thirty girls who are under the supervision of Mr. Rowell. Owing to the motel's location, these girls spend most of their time on campus, utilizing the library as a study hall.

The Thunderbird is housing sixty freshman girls and their house mother, Mrs. Conlon. The main problem there is the lack of study space and poor lighting; nevertheless the girls, by using initiative and imagination are learning to cope with such problems.

Eagerly these girls are looking forward to the opening of the new dormitory and campus life.

FRESHMAN DANCE

A chaos of excited voices mingled with echoes of music in the crowded College Gym, where the annual Freshman dance, on September 30, 1966, from 8-12 P.M., capped the initiation of the class of 1970. Freshmen can be proud of their high note of enthusiasm, as was demonstrated by an excellent turnout of students.

The main event of the evening was the presentation of the class drum, which is a symbol of spirit, determination, and leadership. Amidst cheers of both freshmen and upperclassmen, John Wright handed down the traditional drum to Dana Andrews. Robert Hayes and Robert Morin also received honorable mention for their efforts to capture the class drum.

Co-chairmen for the Frosh dance were Philip Airol迪 and James Besarkarski. "The Shadows", a Fitchburg band, was provided by committee-head Daniel McCarthy. Anne Ethier, heading the refreshment committee, served punch and cake in the lower gym section for all persons attending the dance. Class banners served as decorations.

The Freshman dance was considered a success, which is a good beginning for the class of 1970.

NEW REGISTRAR

This year the campus welcomes a new Registrar. He is Mr. Mazeika, a graduate of The College of the Holy Cross, Worcester. Mr. Mazeika did his graduate work at Boston College, earning a Master's degree in Guidance in 1956, and completed advanced work in Administration in 1959. While working in Guidance, he took courses in psychology, physical science and English in order to familiarize himself with these fields.

Before coming to Fitchburg State, Mr. Mazeika was Dean of Admissions and Registrar of Holyoke Community College.

As a newcomer to the campus, Mr. Mazeika has noted the "tremendous school spirit and loyalty demonstrated by the students." This, he said, was an important factor in fostering better student — administration relations.

During the coming year, the new Registrar hopes to complete plans for a Pre-Registration Program, which, when put into effect, would include the registration for required subjects as well as electives for the entire student body.

Mr. Mazeika is taking the place of Dr. Russell, who is currently teaching at Columbia University.

PEACE CORPS ADVANCE TRAINING PROGRAM

This is the first of a series of articles relating my experience in the Peace Corps' Advance Training Program (ATP) this past summer. I don't claim to be an expert on the Peace Corps, but it is my purpose to present my view of the Corps as I witnessed it during this ten-week period. I also hope I can answer some of the questions you may have on the Peace Corps.

The Peace Corps is open to any person who can pass the Corps' fairly easy qualifications. Restrictions are on the basis of physical health and mental health; and married couples who have dependents under 18 years of age are excluded. If one is in doubt about his physical or mental health, I would say it is best to let the Peace Corps decide if he is qualified.

Another point which should be mentioned is that a volunteer can leave the Peace Corps any time he desires. No one forces him to volunteer, and no one forces him to stay.

The Advance Training Program was first used on a large scale this summer. It has been established for two reasons: first, to present to a potential Peace Corps volunteer an opportunity to see if this is what he really wants; second, to give the volunteer more training than he would receive when entering a regular Peace Corps program. All A.T.P.'s are summer programs open to college students who are entering their senior year of college. The programs are ten-week periods of work and study for a particular field in a particular country. The volunteer returns to school for his senior year, and the next summer he goes to the country for which he has prepared.

The program and country the volunteer enters are selected by the volunteer in his application. From my experience, I would say that ninety per cent of the volunteers are placed in the country and program they selected on their application. The other 10 per cent receive either their country or a program choice.

On my application, I expressed an interest in education and in Africa. Last June I received a phone call from the Peace Corps office in Washington asking if I would accept a special agricultural program in Kenya, East Africa. At 9:00 a.m., June 17th I boarded an United Air Lines jet on a first class, prepaid flight to my training site, the University of Wisconsin in Milwaukee. The only information given was what I should bring and where I was to go. I would be lying if I said that I wasn't scared. This was my first airplane flight and my first trip out of New England, but this experience was nothing compared to what was to come.

NEW SPONSOR AT PALMER HALL

This school year found Miss Miranda in what she refers to as a pleasant, enjoyable situation. She is the new faculty resident at Palmer Hall. In an interview on Monday evening, October 3, she said she finds living on campus most convenient. Her new position offers her the opportunity to meet the students, an important part of teaching.

Miss Miranda has her Master's degree in English and is currently a Doctoral candidate at the University of Massachusetts. A member of the English department, she teaches Freshman Composition and American Literature, and she also conducts a workshop in Advanced Composition. Freshman Composition, her favorite course, offers, she feels, the student's greatest opportunity to be able to think logically and express himself articulately. Thus, composition is central to the student's whole career.

Asked about being sophomore class sponsor, she reacted by saying, "I was flattered when asked. I enjoy it because it keeps me in contact with the students."

Last year Miss Miranda created the Scrabble Club to help students build their vocabulary while having fun at the same time. It will continue this year.

The Kampus Vue staff was interested in hearing her comments about the newspaper. She said, "The quality of the writing is poor. Like most other college newspapers it suffers from a disease called apathy. An apathetic student body is not conducive to first-rate reporting. In addition, the newspaper may be simply understaffed. There aren't enough feature articles, and by the time the paper is published, the news really isn't news any more." On the affirmative side she said, "The format is good and the art work is excellent. The newspaper needs to recruit people who write well, have a genuine interest and are willing to work."

To satisfy my own curiosity I asked her how she kept up with all her work. Her secret is to budget the time. "Stay with things, if not ahead of them."

Miss Miranda is impressed with the student body on the whole. She finds them congenial, well-mannered, and always friendly. She compares eating in our cafeteria to dining in any large restaurant. "There is the hum of conversation, but the atmosphere is far from rowdy." We students at Palmer Hall find her a person with striking vitality possessing a warm, friendly manner. The atmosphere in the dormitory is relaxed, and we don't feel her to be an intruder by any means.

In concluding the interview, I asked her if she felt her position at Palmer Hall interfered with her teaching. She replied, "No, most emphatically no. My first duty and primary interest is in teaching; if anything interfered with my effectiveness as a teacher, I would with no compunction give it up. All activities on campus which keep me in contact with students, I believe, enhance my effectiveness as a teacher."

Linda Swide

"Thank You Dean MAZEIKA."

EDITOR SPEAKS TO FRESHMEN

Welcome, Freshman. This issue of the Kampus Vue is dedicated to you. Many of you are probably wondering: "How did I land at this place — on the last threshold of civilization?" or "What kind of school is this anyway — dining hall not equipped for the number of boarding students, insufficient books in the bookstore, ghastly waits in long lines for purchasing books, horrible housing in motels, and curfews which are unbearable."

THIS IS FITCHBURG STATE COLLEGE.

Don't complain among yourselves — years of such student bickering has done no good.

If you are sincerely upset by some seemingly puritanical rule, write a letter to the editor. That is what our Letters to the Editor column is for.

If you have a problem, speak out. Don't hold it in until you "blow your mind."

If you are having difficulties with your studies, talk to your professors. They ARE willing to help you and would welcome the chance to hear your complaint, which perhaps many others have but are too scared or lazy to do something about. How can the teacher remedy the situation unless he is made aware of it?

Remember, you are on your own now — responsible to yourself for your failure or success.

ATTENTION: LANGUAGE STUDENTS

Mr. Pierre Pinet of the Language Department has submitted the following article for reprint. The original newspaper title was "Careers Open for Language Trained Youth" by Michael Sterling.

Increased interest in the far corners of the world by both government and industry are opening up an increasing number of careers overseas. The student who has developed a career skill and a language is very much in demand for there are more jobs than there are competent linguists with proper skills to fill them.

Regardless of what job areas you have selected for your life's work, you will find that a second language will greatly increase your value to a potential employer, whether you seek work in business or government. And, the opportunities are almost equal for both boys and girls.

Business and industry is constantly looking for everything from engineers to management personnel, sales personnel, office workers, interpreters, doctors and other professionals for overseas posts.

Our government has greatly increased its activity all around the world. The emerging new nations alone have spurred a massive hunt for linguists in scores of languages to fill government posts of all kinds. In some areas people not proficient in the language have had to fill jobs because qualified people simply were not available.

Even in the field of communications there is a shortage of qualified people. As American media gives more and more coverage to international affairs, a larger work force is needed to gather and transmit the news for newspapers, television, radio and magazines.

If you are studying a foreign language at school, make the most of it. It is one of the best academic investments you can make. If your parents are bi-lingual, take advantage of the situation and learn the language fluently. If you have bi-lingual friends, let them help you learn their language. Read as much as you can in your second language, learn to write in it as well.

The opportunity is there. Foreign posts can be stimulating and in most cases are more rewarding financially than comparable domestic jobs.

PLAYWRIGHT CONTEST

The Drama Club is presently offering aspiring authors an opportunity to display their talent. Mr. Eugene Casassa, sponsor of the group, has announced a playwright contest open to all members of the student body. It is intended to be totally a school function with the top three plays to be selected and produced by the Drama Club, in conjunction with the author, tentatively on December 6, 1966.

The restrictions are very few. It must be a one-act play between 10 and 30 minutes in length. The action should take place within one setting, and there should be a maximum of seven characters. Subject matter, setting, and other technical details are left to the author's creativity and ingenuity. Those wishing to participate should submit their finished product to Mr. Casassa on or before November 7, 1966.

With maximum power of 1000 watts, WAL ERF will transmit on short wave bands. The license is strictly for communication by voice or with code; music is not allowed to be transmitted by the station.

All operators of the station must hold a license. Types of licenses include:

Novice — issued for a one year term and requires knowledge of Morse code and a small amount of radio theory and practice. Operator must be able to send and receive 5 words per minute.

Technician — issued for a five year term and requires ability to send and receive at 5 words per minute; and knowledge of radio theory.

General Class: operator must be able to send and receive at least 13 words per minute. A test on radio theory must be taken at the F.S.C. office in Boston.

Mr. Theodore Lapierre, trustee of the station is starting an Amateur Radio Club on campus. He is looking for members who are interested in obtaining an amateur license. Interested people should contact Mr. Lapierre or one of the club sponsors, Dr. Driscoll or Mr. Bowers.

FRESHMAN NEWS

Sometime in October four men of the Freshman Class will be chosen to represent their class as members of the Men's Intramural Board. These four men will be elected by their fellow-classmates and will serve for four years. This office is open to any member of the Freshman Class who has a sincere interest in the functioning and continuation of athletics, especially on the intramural level, at F.S.C. We need men who are willing to give a little time and effort for the betterment of F.S.C.'s athletic program.

So please keep this qualification in mind when electing the men who will represent your class.

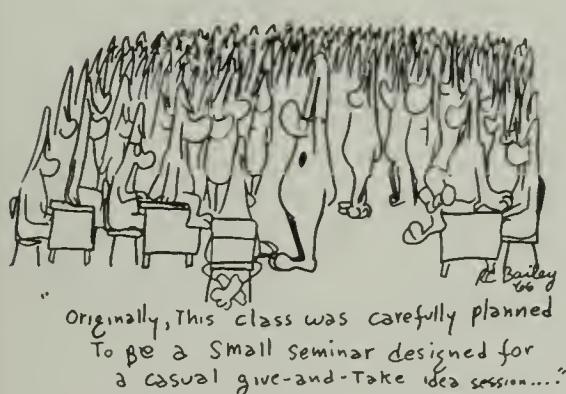

R. T. Tiernan

SOPHOMORE CLASS NEWS

Sophomore! I would like to introduce you to your class advisors. They are Miss Irene Miranda of the English Department and Mr. Walter Richard of the Education Department. Their vitality in the short time that they have been your advisors has already been invaluable.

In order for any of our Sophomore activities to be a success your support is needed, especially at the Hallowe'en Mixer on October 28. At the present time we are planning several other activities such as a bigger Winter Carnival, future mixers, concerts, etc. The outcome of our first mixer may have a great bearing on the success or failure of our future activities.

MOHAWK DONATION

Owing to the great increase in student enrollment, the Men's Intramural Board has found it very difficult to successfully communicate with all the participants of sports programs offered. Having no facilities to post game schedules and statistics, it has witnessed an apparent warning in game enthusiasm and spirit on occasion.

Because of this the Mohawk Club, an active supporter for over forty years of the athletic program of the college, has purchased and donated a combination chalk-and-bulletin board to the M.I.B. for intramural and varsity use only. In doing this the Club is attempting to improve communication between the M.I.B. and the student body, with the hope that there will be a noticeable improvement in the morale of the participants in college sports, and a marked increase in student support.

INTRAMURAL NEWS

This year the Men's Intramural Board will have as its leaders; Richard Tiernan, President; Frank Baran, Vice-President; Barry Finneron, Treasurer; and Gary Candelet, Secretary. These men were elected (a new policy) last spring by the board members.

A very active year has been planned for all interested "super stars."

Football intramurals, the initial event, will begin the second week of October. A championship game between the teams with the two best records will be played shortly before Thanksgiving vacation. Soccer will supplement football in the fall season, with competition between the four classes.

The calendar of events for the rest of the year will be just as active. Basketball, softball, volleyball, and ping-pong will once more be on the agenda. There are also high hopes that a chess tournament, intramural wrestling, and a track meet will be incorporated as regular M.I.B. functions.

The All-College Olympics will be repeated again this year. This event, some time in the spring, will feature competition between the various classes and social groups.

Intramurals should play an active role in the social life of each male member at F.S.C. The main purpose of these contests is to provide the student of average athletic ability with a chance to participate in competition with players on the same level. Participation is open to any male student who has maintained a scholastic average above academic probation.

The members of the board still hold the optimistic view that although Marty has left us, we will still be able to carry on. Oh yes, you "super stars" that are "unofficially" on A.P. had better walk softly. It may take time but we'll get you.

R. T. Tiernan

I. A. A.

Where could Steve Gordon possibly be hiding?

Much concern exists as to whether the Interstreet Athletic Association will function again this year.

The I.A.A. serves a very worthwhile purpose. It gives the area apartment dwellers a chance to express their abilities in a wide range of athletic endeavors not offered by M.I.B.

What ever happened to the relay race from Sterling with Steve and Louie running anchor?

Get on the ball, guys, and see if you can track down Steve and get him going.

CHAMPS

Bettering an 8-2 record is no easy task for any soccer team, but this year's squad certainly has the potential to go all the way. Although losing such outstanding players as Sam Pawlak, Bob Ringuette, Marty O'Brien, Hank Devlin, and Neil Graveline through graduation, Coach Casassa still has a host of lettermen and a fine crop of "rookies."

Leading the team this year will be tri-captains Fred Turner, Steve Chapdelaine, and Tom Turner. Fred directs the defense and is a good scoring threat from his fulback position. Steve, an all-scholastic high school player, leads the offense from his center forward post and is expected to come into his own this season. Tom is a natural at halfback and the team pusher.

Along with these fine captains will be senior Fred Farrell at right wing, a good scoring threat; Hank Shachoy, an aggressive fullback who likes contact; John Stelmack, a rugged boy in the goal; seniors Ted Vining and Bob Montminy, who are both in contention for a starting berth at left halfback; and Jim Catalini, a seasoned veteran who rounds out the defense at his left fullback position.

Dick Perreault, a sophomore, and a promising group of freshmen will back up the defense. Helping out Farrell and Chapdelaine on offense will be sophomore Art Vienneau, another letterman, at the right wing, while the other probable starters will be senior Kenny Roberts and junior Ed Marchand.

Pressing the starters on the offensive line are senior Tom Starr and his sophomore brother Don, junior Lenny Amburgey and sophomores Charlie Callahan and Bobby Hunter.

If the team stays reasonably healthy and has a little luck, it could very well go all the way. But win or lose, let's all get out and support our team this year. It should be well worth the effort.

"SOMETHING OLD, SOMETHING NEW"

A familiar face has once more returned to the Fitchburg State athletic department: Coach Elliot, after retiring last year, was put on special assignment to the President of the College for a few months this year. His duties are to advise the President on changes needed at F.S.C.

The new face which we hope will become a familiar one is that of Mr. Settele. Mr. Settele will be the new track coach at Fitchburg, along with his other duties as assistant to Mr. Battinelli.

The new coach, who hails from Berlin, Mass., spent his undergraduate days at Boston University. There, he compiled an impressive record in track and field. Only recently was his record in the high hurdles broken by John Thomas. Mr. Settele competed in the low hurdles, broad jump, 100 yard dash, 220-yard dash, pole valut, javelin throw, and the half-mile relay. Sometimes he ran in four or five events in a day, and once scored 27 points in a meet.

After leaving Boston University, he received his Master's in Physical Education and is now working on his doctorate. He began coaching on the junior high school level and soon moved up to the high school level. Everything seemed to indicate that he was going to have a promising career, and then two years ago he was involved in an almost fatal accident.

While driving his car, he was hit by a train and was carried a half mile on the tracks. He remained unconscious for three weeks. When he regained his senses, his left side was paralyzed and he had lost his coordination. Mr. Settele had to learn to do "everything" over again. He is still recuperating and doing very well for a person who was "never" to walk again.

We are sure Mr. Settele will prove how valuable he is to Fitchburg State not only in the track department but in all physical education activities. We would like to go one step further and say that we hope Mr. Settele is as pleased with Fitchburg State as it is pleased with him.

ALUMNI EDGED

The Varsity Soccer team launched its 1966 season Saturday, September 29, with a hard-earned 1 to 0 victory over the Alumni at Coolidge Park. The game was played in heavy rain, which marred the play of both teams.

The varsity got its lone point in the second period on a goal by senior Fred Farrell at the expense of Bob Quattrelo, the alumni goalie. Both teams missed numerous opportunities during the game, probably because of the weather.

The varsity showed a lot of promise in their win over the alumni. It was a good start to what should be a winning season.
